The Long-Term Stock Exchange announces phase-in schedule of test and non-test securities

The Long-Term Stock Exchange (LTSE) is pleased to share the following target dates for test opportunities and phase-in of non-test securities over a period of eight weeks beginning March 23.

Beginning March 23, LTSE will allow Members to enter orders on the Exchange using test symbols only. The Exchange expects to allow trading of test securities for approximately four weeks.

Starting no earlier than April 17 and continuing for a period of at least four weeks, LTSE will gradually phase in non-test securities. LTSE anticipates providing additional information about the phase-in schedule of non-test securities in the coming weeks.

For further questions about testing and trading on LTSE, please contact the Exchange at marketops@longtermstockexchange.com
